Administrative Penalties Guideline

Contraventions under the Pension Benefits Act and its Regulations

Effective June 8, 2019, the Financial Services Regulatory Authority of Ontario (FSRA) assumed the regulatory functions of the Financial Services Commission of Ontario (FSCO) and the Deposit Insurance Corporation of Ontario (DICO).

FSRA is actively reviewing all FSCO regulatory guidance, including this document.

Until FSRA issues new regulatory guidance, all existing regulatory guidance remains in force.

PURPOSE

This guideline sets out the general process to follow when the Superintendent of Financial Services (Superintendent) imposes an administrative penalty on a person for non-compliance with any of the provisions identified in Regulation 365/17 (administrative penalties regulation).

Administrative penalty provisions are set out in sections 108.1 to 108.5 of the Pension Benefits Act (PBA) and in the administrative penalties regulation.

OVERVIEW OF ADMINISTRATIVE PENALTIES

As of January 1, 2018, the Superintendent has the authority to impose administrative penalties for certain contraventions under the PBA and regulations made under the PBA.

The introduction of administrative penalties does not create new or different compliance requirements. Instead, it expands the enforcement options available to the Financial Services Commission of Ontario (FSCO) in the regulation of pension plans in Ontario.

Administrative penalties are intended to promote compliance and to prevent a person from deriving economic benefit as a result of non-compliance with legislated requirements. Unlike proceedings under the Provincial Offences Act, there is no criminal or quasi-criminal element when administrative penalties are imposed.

It is expected that administrative penalties will help encourage plan sponsors and administrators to adopt good governance, risk management and business practices.

The Schedules to the administrative penalties regulation set out two categories of administrative penalties:

- general administrative penalties (or "variable penalties"), which apply to contraventions of specific provisions listed under Schedule 1, or failures to comply with requirements imposed by order or obligations assumed by way of undertaking; and
- 2. summary administrative penalties (or "fixed penalties"), which apply to late regulatory filings that have set daily penalties and are listed under Schedule 2.

Both categories are subject to the same maximum penalty amounts: $10,000 per contravention or failure to comply by an individual, and $25,000 per contravention or failure to comply in the case of a person other than an "individual".

For purposes of the PBA, the "person" would generally be the legal entity that has the ultimate responsibility for carrying out a specific duty or requirement under the PBA and regulations, such as a plan administrator or a corporation. Under a single employer pension plan, the plan administrator is generally the employer; whereas, for a multiemployer pension plan, the plan administrator would be the board of trustees.

Administrative penalties are an enforcement tool that can be imposed on their own or in conjunction with other enforcement options under the PBA. The Superintendent has discretion to decide what action to take, and not take, if there is an alleged contravention of the PBA and regulations, including which regulatory measure(s) to pursue, if any.

Funds collected from penalties are directed to the Ontario government's consolidated revenue fund.

EXPECTATIONS AND COMPLIANCE

Monitoring for Compliance

The Superintendent uses a risk-based regulation framework to promote better fiduciary and administrative practices, and, where applicable, to determine the appropriate regulatory response that should be taken in order to best protect the interests of plan beneficiaries. This framework is grounded on the following five principles:

- Proactive FSCO takes proactive measures to promote compliance and to reduce risks to plan beneficiaries.
- Focused FSCO focuses its attention on those plans posing the most serious risks to the security of plan beneficiaries' benefits.
- Proportionate FSCO's regulatory response is proportionate to the risks identified, with due regard to the probability and impact of risk.
- Consistent FSCO applies its approach consistently and in a way that minimizes uncertainty about its likely response.
- Informed FSCO's assessment of risk and regulatory response will be informed by the evidence gathered from appropriate sources.

The Superintendent considers these principles and other factors that may be relevant when determining an appropriate use of administrative penalties. See FSCO's Risk-Based Regulation Framework Document for additional information about the framework.

Superintendent's Expectation

The Superintendent expects pension plan administrators to be aware of their obligations to plan beneficiaries, and have appropriate processes in place to ensure that the pension plan and pension fund are being administered in accordance with the PBA and its regulations. For example, the Superintendent expects plan administrators to provide their members with accurate and timely member information (e.g., annual statements, notices, etc.) by the applicable required due date. See FSCO's policy Administrator

Role and Responsibilities (A300-101), which highlights some of plan administrator's core responsibilities under the PBA.

Responsibility

As indicated in FSCO's policy Administrator Role and Responsibilities (A300-101), certain plan administrator tasks are often delegated to certain providers' specialists. However, the plan administrator remains ultimately accountable for the administration of the pension plan and administration and investment of the pension fund. This means that the plan administrator is not relieved of those responsibilities merely because certain administrative tasks are delegated.

The Superintendent may also impose administrative penalties on other entities for their failure to comply with requirements of the PBA. For example, administrative penalties may be imposed on a pension fund trustee for failure to provide notice to the Superintendent that it did not receive FSCO's Form 7 - Summary of Contributions/Revised Summary of Contributions from the plan administrator by the required due date (breach of section 6.2(4) of General Regulation 909).

In imposing administrative penalties, the Superintendent may make a distinction between those who initiate and/or direct contravening activity, and those who have limited involvement. Those involved with the responsibility or ability to ensure compliance with regulatory requirements may face more severe consequences than those without this responsibility or ability.

No Payment From the Pension Fund

The PBA prohibits the payment of administrative penalties from a pension fund. This applies to all plan types (e.g. single employer, multi-employer and jointly sponsored pension plans).

GENERAL ADMINISTRATIVE PENALTIES

General administrative penalties may be imposed where a person has not complied with:

- a specified requirement of the PBA and regulations, which are listed under Schedule 1 of the administrative penalties regulation;
- a requirement imposed by order of the Superintendent; or
- · an obligation assumed by way of undertaking.

Appendix A lists the provisions that are included under Schedule 1.

Events that might be subject to a general administrative penalty may come to the attention of FSCO by means of a complaint, annual plan examinations, targeted reviews or general desk review by staff.

There is no set amount payable for general administrative penalties. The amount of the penalty may be imposed at the discretion of the Superintendent, subject to maximum penalty amounts under section 108.4 of the PBA ($10,000 per contravention or failure to comply by an individual, or $25,000 in the case of a person, other than an individual, such as a corporate plan administrator or a corporate employer).

Criteria

In determining the appropriate penalty amount, only the following criteria will be considered by the Superintendent:

- 1. The degree to which the contravention or failure was intentional, reckless or negligent.
- 2. The extent of the harm or potential harm to others resulting from the contravention or failure.
- The extent to which the person who is contravening or not complying with or who has contravened or failed to comply with a provision tried to mitigate any loss or to take other remedial action.
- 4. The extent to which the person who is contravening or not complying with or who has contravened or failed to comply with a provision derived or reasonably might have expected to derive, directly or indirectly, any economic benefit from the contravention or failure.
- Any other contraventions of or failures to comply with a requirement established under the PBA or with the pension benefits legislation of a designated jurisdiction during the preceding five years by the person.

Dispute Process for General Administrative Penalties

A general administration penalty is issued pursuant to FSCO's Notice of Intended Decision (NOID) process. A NOID can be served up to five years after the date when the contravention or failure to comply has occurred (or is alleged to have occurred).

The Superintendent will not impose general administrative penalties for a contravention or failure to comply that has occurred (or is alleged to have occurred) before January 1, 2018. However, a contravention that originally occurred before January 1, 2018, and that continues to occur or re-occur after that date is potentially subject to an administrative penalty as a continuing contravention.

Once a non-compliance matter has been brought to FSCO's attention, FSCO will follow its standard process of obtaining information from all relevant parties (e.g. plan administrator, plan member, etc.), before determining whether there has been a contravention, and if administrative penalties would be the appropriate tool to remedy the matter.

The following outlines the typical process that will begin once the Superintendent determines that a general administrative penalty would be appropriate:

a) Notice of intended decision to impose a general administrative penalty

If the Superintendent is satisfied that a person has not complied with:

- any one of the provisions specified under Schedule 1 of the administrative penalties regulation;
- a requirement imposed by order of the Superintendent; or
- an obligation assumed by way of undertaking;

and if a decision has been made to apply a general administrative penalty, then the Superintendent will provide a NOID to the person subject to the penalty. The NOID will set out the following information:

- the details of the contravention or failure to comply and the reasons to support the intended penalty
- the amount of the penalty
- the payment requirements; and
- the process and deadlines to request a hearing before the Financial Services Tribunal (FST)¹ if the person wishes to dispute the administrative penalty.

The NOID will be delivered to the person by courier. A copy of the NOID is provided to the FST's Registrar.

¹ The FST is an independent adjudicative body that reviews decisions made by the Superintendent.

b) Requesting a hearing

A person has 15 calendar days² after the NOID is delivered to request a hearing before the FST by completing FST's Form 1 – Request for Hearing. (Note: The time limit to request a hearing related to an administrative penalty is shorter than for any other pension proceedings before the FST.) Further information about the FST and rules for hearings are available on the FST's website (www.fstontario.ca).

The FST may, by order, direct the Superintendent to:

- make the intended decision indicated in the notice;
- vary the decision (e.g. order a reduced or higher penalty or change the payment requirements); or
- substitute its opinion for that of the Superintendent (e.g. order no penalty or add additional administrative penalties).

The final order will be published on FSCO's website.

c) Deadline for paying the general administrative penalty

If a person does not request a hearing on the NOID within 15 calendar days after the NOID is delivered, the Superintendent may order payment of the administrative penalty. The administrative penalty must be paid within 30 calendar days after the person receives an invoice or such longer time as may be specified in the order.

However, in cases where a person has requested a hearing within the 15 calendar days, and the FST either confirms or varies the penalty amount, the penalty must be paid within 30 calendar days after the matter is concluded or such longer time as may be specified in the order and the invoice relating to the order.

If no payment is received by the date specified in the invoice, interest will be calculated on the penalty amount until payment in full is received.

After 90 calendar days, any overdue amounts may be sent to a collection agency. Section 108.5 of the PBA provides that the Superintendent may also file the order with the Superior Court of Justice, and the order may be enforced as if it were an order of the court. An administrative penalty that is not paid in accordance with the terms of the order imposing the penalty is a debt due to the Crown and is also enforceable as such.

d) Effect of paying the penalty

If a person pays the administrative penalty in accordance with the terms of the order (or the varied order, if applicable), the person cannot be charged with an offence under the Provincial Offences Act for the same contravention or failure to comply.

² If the delivery date falls on a weekend or a statutory holiday, then the next business day is the deadline.

However, additional administrative penalty or prosecution could still apply in cases where there is repeat non-compliance with respect to the same provision under the PBA.

SUMMARY ADMINISTRATIVE PENALTIES

Summary administrative penalties are intended to encourage timely filing.

The Superintendent uses information provided in statutory filings to make regulatory decisions and to be able to assess compliance. Therefore, the Superintendent expects these filings to not only be submitted on time, but also to be accurate and complete. A document that contains inaccurate information or that is incomplete will not be considered as filed.

If a filing that is listed under Schedule 2 of the administrative penalties regulation has been identified by staff or the Pension Data System (PDS) as being late, then the Superintendent may impose a summary administrative penalty to bring the pension plan into compliance. See Appendix B for the filings that are included under Schedule 2.

The Superintendent may impose a daily penalty of $100 or $200 for each day of non-compliance, as specified in Schedule 2, up to the maximum penalty amounts set under section 108.4 of the PBA ($10,000 per contravention or failure to comply by an individual, or $25,000 in the case of a person, such as a corporate plan administrator or a corporate employer).

Request for filing extension

If a delay in filing is anticipated, filing extension requests should be made as soon as possible in accordance with FSCO policy Extension of Deadline for Filings with FSCO (D050-803). Where granted, administrative penalties will not be imposed during the filing extension period.

For the following filings, an extension request must be made through FSCO's Pension Services Portal (PSP)³:

- Annual Information Returns
- Pension Plan/Fund Financial Statements
- Investment Information Summaries
- Actuarial Valuation Reports and Actuarial Information Summaries
- Statement of Investment Policies and Procedures

³ PBGF Assessment Certificates must also be filed through the PSP but are not subject to administrative penalties. However, late PBGF filings will be subject to late penalty fees in accordance with section 37(14) of General Regulation 909.

If the Superintendent is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for the extension request, the Superintendent may extend the filing due date of up to a maximum of 30 calendar days for actuarial valuation reports and maximum of 60 calendar days for all other filings. Further extensions may be requested, but will only be granted if extraordinary grounds exist and no person will be unduly prejudiced by the granting of a further filing extension.

Filing Reminders Before Due Date for Summary Administrative Penalties

Before a filing is due, FSCO automatically sends out two reminder notices by e-mail to plan administrators and their delegated agents. The first email is generally sent two months prior to the filing due date. The second email is generally sent within two weeks prior to the filing due date.

Compliance Letters – After Due Date/Filing Extension Date for Summary Administrative Penalties

There are two compliance letters that FSCO automatically sends to plan administrators if the filings are late or incomplete.

Before imposing a summary administrative penalty, the Superintendent must give the person a reasonable opportunity to make a written submission.

a) First Compliance Letter - Letter of Warning

The purpose of the Letter of Warning is to notify the plan administrator that the filing was not received by FSCO by the prescribed due date, or by the extended due date if a filing extension was granted. This letter is typically delivered to the person by regular mail between 1 and 2 weeks after the applicable due date.

The Letter of Warning provides notice of regulatory action that can be taken by FSCO, including the Superintendent's discretion to impose an administrative penalty on the late filing if it is not submitted to FSCO by the date specified in the letter.

b) Second Compliance Letter – Letter of Proposed Action

If the filing has not been submitted by the date specified in the Letter of Warning, then a second letter is sent to the plan administrator by courier. This letter is typically sent between 1 and 2 weeks after the due date specified in the Letter of Warning.

The Letter of Proposed Action includes the following information:

- details of the contravention;
- a statement that a summary administrative penalty may be ordered by the Superintendent;

- the start date of the penalty (which will generally be the original due date or the extended due date of the filing);
- the daily penalty that applies to the filing ($100 or $200 per day, as applicable), and a statement that the penalty will accumulate until the filing has been received, or until the maximum amount has been reached (whichever occurs first);
- a statement that other enforcement action may also be considered; and
- a statement that the person has 15 calendar days to make a written submission as to why the penalty should not be levied.

The Superintendent will consider a submission if it is made within 15 calendar days of the Letter of Proposed Action. The person should send the submission by e-mail to AMPsubmission@fsco.gov.on.ca. The submission should explain why there was non-compliance, provide mitigating circumstance(s) and suggest why no penalty should be levied.

The Superintendent may consider exercising his discretion to refrain from imposing summary administrative penalties where there are significant mitigating circumstances, which include circumstances that are exceptional or unforeseen and are outside the control of the plan administrator or individual.

Some examples of mitigating circumstances may be the result of:

- significant disruption to the computer system due to virus attacks, fire, or flood; and
- business disruption caused by an industrial action, natural disaster or state of emergency.

Situations that will normally not be considered as mitigating circumstances include:

- staff changes or absences;
- minor computer problems, partial system disruption, lack of system backup or contingency plan; and
- office closures.

Based on the person's written submission, if the Superintendent determines that administrative penalties should not be imposed, then other enforcement action may still be considered to bring the plan into compliance.

However, if no submission is received within the 15 calendar days, or if the Superintendent is not satisfied with the explanation provided, then the Superintendent may issue an order for the payment of the administrative penalty.

c) Decision Letter

FSCO will notify the person of the Superintendent's decision as to whether or not an administrative penalty will be imposed before an order is issued.

The order to impose an administrative penalty will be issued at the earliest of when FSCO receives the filing, or when the maximum penalty amount has been reached.

Dispute Process for Summary Administrative Penalties

The Superintendent's order to impose a summary administrative penalty can be served up to five years after the date that the contravention or failure to comply has occurred (or is alleged to have occurred).

The Superintendent will not impose summary administrative penalties for a contravention or failure to comply that has occurred (or is alleged to have occurred) before January 1, 2018. This would not preclude, however, the Superintendent's discretion to impose administrative penalties (which carry daily penalties), for each day of non-compliance that continues beyond January 1, 2018. For example, summary administrative penalties may be imposed with respect to a financial statement that was due on June 30, 2017, if the non-compliance continued beyond January 1, 2018. However, daily penalties would only apply and accrue in respect of the period after December 31, 2017.

The following outlines the process that will begin if the Superintendent intends to impose a summary administrative penalty.

a) Order to impose a summary administrative penalty

The Superintendent will issue an order to impose a summary administrative penalty at the earliest of when FSCO receives the filing, or as of the date when the maximum penalty amount has been reached.

The order will include information about:

- the details of the contravention or failure to comply;
- the amount of the penalty;
- the payment requirements; and
- the right to appeal to the Financial Services Tribunal (FST)⁴ if they wish to dispute the administrative penalty.

The order will be delivered to the person by courier. A copy of the order is provided to the FST's Registrar.

⁴ The FST is an independent adjudicative body that reviews decisions made by the Superintendent.

b) Appealing a decision

The person has 15 calendar days⁵ after the order is delivered to appeal the Superintendent's order to the FST by completing FST's Form 2 - Notice of Appeal. Further information about the FST is available on the FST's website (www.fstontario.ca).

An appeal by the person operates as a stay of the order until the matter is finally disposed of.

The FST may confirm, vary or revoke the Superintendent's order.

The final order will be published on FSCO's website.

c) Deadline for paying the summary administrative penalty

If a person does not appeal the order within 15 calendar days after the order is delivered, the administrative penalties must be paid within 30 calendar days after the person receives an invoice or such longer time period as may be specified in the order.

However, in cases where a person has appealed the Superintendent's order, and the FST either confirms or varies the penalty amount, the penalty must be paid within 30 calendar days after the matter is concluded or such longer time as may be specified in the order and the invoice relating to the order.

If no payment is received by the date specified in the invoice, interest will be calculated on the penalty amount until payment in full is received.

After 90 calendar days, any overdue amounts may be sent to a collection agency. Section 108.5 of the PBA provides that the Superintendent may also file the order with the Superior Court of Justice, and the order may be enforced as if it were an order by the court. An administrative penalty that is not paid in accordance with the terms of the order imposing the penalty is a debt due to the Crown and is also enforceable as such.

d) Effect of paying the penalty

If a person pays the administrative penalty in accordance with the terms of the order (or the varied order, if applicable), the person cannot be charged with an offence under the Provincial Offences Act for the same contravention or failure to comply.

However, additional administrative penalty or prosecution could still apply in cases where there is repeat non-compliance with respect to the same provision under the PBA.

⁵ If the delivery date falls on a weekend or a statutory holiday, then the next business day is the deadline.
